"To What Earth Does This Sweet Cold Belong?": Andrea Carlson Waagidijiid 2007

VIEW JON DAVIES: "To What Earth Does This Sweet Cold Belong?" brings together five young artists who work in an oblique way with landscape, mediating new views of the natural world mainly through studio-based practices. The well-known, "heroic" experience of the artist in the landscape is almost completely absent. Instead, these artists work at several removes, suggesting that the historical ideal of the landscape has been so thoroughly deconstructed that it has now become a hall of mirrors.

Jon Davies is the assistant curator at The Power Plant. He is the curator of the exhibition "To What Earth Does This Sweet Cold Belong?," on view to May 29 at The Power Plant, 231 Queens Quay W.
